Creative Burngreave is currently working with artists in all fields to support you in creating a Personal Portfolio. Graham Parker, a professional media artist and marketing and press consultant will be working with Creative Burngreave to help artists market themselves and create the Portfolio's.

- Producing and structuring 2 Curriculum Vitae's (general and specific)
- A five year action plan - focusing on how to achieve your goals
 - Examples of your work
 - Testimonials and accolades

Building a Personal Portfolio is also an opportunity to gain an OCN accreditation and each artist who completes a portfolio for assessment will be awarded a £50 bursary to support with career development.

If you are interested in Building a Personal Portfolio please get in touch with either Lungani Sibanda or Emmie Ball urgently as places are limited.

'The House That Jack Built'

Creative Burngreave have funded 'In The Mix Theatre Company' to perform theatre in local schools.

In The Mix Theatre Company, have been working on a show for children called 'The House That Jack Built'. This month the company have performed the show to local children at Byron Wood School. The children thoroughly enjoyed themselves and loved getting involved in the performance. Jack (played by Stewart Lodge) and Mr Macavity (Steven Loader) asked the children to help them work out what needed to be added to complete the house they were building. They were also asked how to correctly structure a sentence using clues such as capital letters and full stops!

Stewart Lodge of 'In The Mix' has previously been on the Artist Training Programme and would like to see the theatre company progress onto community theatre projects and running drama workshops.
